Guggenheim Global Income Fund (the "Fund") W USD Distributing (unhedged) (ISIN: IE000C0YOPX6)

The Fund is a sub-fund of Guggenheim Global Investments plc (the "Company") managed by Carne Global Fund Managers (Ireland) Limited (the "Manager").

Objectives and Investment Policy

The Fund's investment objective is to seek to provide total return, comprising of income and capital appreciation. The Fund intends to seek to achieve its objective by investing in fixed income securities which are listed, traded or dealt in on Regulated Markets worldwide, with a primary investment focus on developed markets including the U.S. The Fund can also invest in emerging markets. The Fund will typically invest in traditional fixed income and debt securities such as government and corporate bonds. The Fund may also invest in non-traditional fixed income and debt securities such as loan participations and assignments, asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities, preferred stock, zero-coupon bonds, municipal bonds, payment-in-kind securities (such as payment-in-kind bonds), rule 144A securities and step-up securities (such as step-up bonds). The Fund may also invest up to 10% of its assets in collateralised loan obligations ("CLOs"). The Fund may hold securities of any duration and of any credit quality including unrated and below investment grade securities. The Fund is actively managed, meaning the Investment Manager will actively select, purchase and sell securities with the aim of meeting the investment objectives of the Fund. The Fund's performance is measured relative to the ICE BofA 1-3 Month US Treasury Index (the "Index"). The Index measures the performance of a single issue of outstanding treasury bill which matures closest to, but not beyond, three months from the rebalancing date. The issue is purchased at the beginning of the month and held for a full month; at the end of the month that issue is sold and rolled into a newly selected issue. The Index does not define the asset allocation of the Fund and depending on market conditions the Fund may deviate significantly from the Index. The Fund is unconstrained by a traditional benchmark and as such can rotate amongst fixed income sectors and securities based on relative value opportunities. The Fund may also invest in collective investment schemes, transferable securities which are not listed, traded or dealt on a regulated market, cash, and warrants or other forms of restructuring equity or securities, which are received as a result of an in-court or out-of-court financial restructuring or insolvency proceeding, and are issued by the reorganised company post-bankruptcy, sometimes issued together in conjunction with new debt instruments. The warrants in which the Fund may hold may (but are not expected to) include embedded derivatives or leverage. Warrants are not option-like derivative instruments convertible into common shares at a predetermined price. Rather, these are instruments similar to promissory notes used to gain exposure to the underlying security. The Fund may engage in transactions in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") such as futures, forwards, swaps (including but not limited to total return swaps and credit default swaps), swaptions, options, Securities Financing Transactions including repurchase agreements and reverse repurchase agreements to hedge its investments, gain market exposure and manage the effects of interest rate movements on the Fund's performance and volatility. A swaption is an option on a swap which gives the Fund the right to enter into an interest rate swap at a specified date in the future. Swaptions are contracts whereby one party receives a fee in return for agreeing to enter into a forward swap at a predetermined fixed rate if some contingency event occurs. A reverse repurchase agreement is a transaction whereby a fund purchases securities from a counterparty and simultaneously commits to resell the securities to the counterparty at an agreed upon date and price. A future is a contract, traded on an exchange, to buy or sell an asset at a specified price and on a specific future date. Forwards are similar to futures but are traded with a specific counterparty as opposed to on an exchange. Swaps are agreements between two parties to exchange future payments in one financial asset for payments in another. Swaps must include an exchange of a principal amount at the maturity of or at the inception of the contract. An option is a contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell an underlying asset at a specific price on or before a certain date. The Fund may use foreign currency spot transactions for hedging against the base currency of the Fund (including, but not limited to, for managing settlement risk, dividend income and subscription and redemptions in currencies other than the base currency). Base currency of the Fund is USD. Recommendation: This Fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5 years. Investors may redeem their shares (whether in whole or in part) on any dealing day in which the banks are open for business in Ireland and the US. If you hold units in the distributing share class then the Fund aims to distribute available income every quarter. You can sell your shares on any working day that banks are open for business in Ireland and the United States. You must submit your application to the Fund's Administrator before 11.00 a.m. (Irish time) on the business day on which you want to sell.

Risk and Reward Profile

The indicator above illustrates the position of this fund on a standard Risk/Reward category scale. The category is chosen based on the volatility of returns.

Historical data is used in calculating the synthetic risk and reward indicator, and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund.

A category 1 fund is not a risk-free investment - the risk of losing your money is small, but the chance of making gains is also limited. With a category 7 fund, the risk of losing your money is high, but there is also a chance of making higher gains. The seven-category scale is complex. For example, a category 2 fund is not twice as risky as a category 1 fund.

The Fund is in category 5 (denoting a moderate to high volatility). The volatility describes how much the value of the fund went up and down in the past. With a fund of category 5, you have a moderate to high risk of losing money but your chance for gains is also moderate to high.

Investments of the Fund may in some cases have below investment grade credit ratings, which means that while the interest paid by these may be higher, there is potentially a higher risk of default and loss to the Fund.

There is a risk that the issuers of bonds and other debt securities may not be able to pay interest or repay their debt leading to losses being incurred by the Fund. This risk is potentially greater than average where the Fund invests in an investment with a lower credit rating.

The Fund invests in some overseas markets which carry a higher than average investment risk and the Fund may have problems or delays in getting its investments back when required.

Liquidity risk – it may become difficult to sell the Fund's assets at a certain time and for a reasonable price.

Currency risk – the Fund may invest in securities that are issued in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund.

Market risk – certain stocks, bonds and investments may decline in value more than the overall stock market.

For more information on risks, please see the section entitled 'Risk Factors' in the prospectus.
